

We are there for you in times like these as well.

Esteemed customers
Esteemed business partners

This year will likely long remain in the memory for all of us. Unexpectedly and suddenly, we were confronted with a completely new situation. The outbreak of Covid-19 has changed both our private and our business routines significantly.

This exceptional situation entailed major challenges for us as well. Some of our suppliers had to discontinue production temporarily or close their plants.

However, thanks to our large stock of goods, we were able to cushion manufacturer-induced delivery delays to a large extent and we are pleased that we could deliver most orders on time.

We thank you for your trust – especially in these difficult times – and we look forward to further successful collaboration with you.

We wish you and your relatives pleasant holidays and much happiness, health and success in the new year.

Kind regards,

Your Swissdis team
